

Animal loving people - has anyone got space to let out Someone in need of care mayl

I live in Tonbridge with 2 cats and have just been told by my landlord we need to vacate as soon as possible. I had originally rented the house to care for my elderly mother, with a friend. Mum has passed, the friend left, but the landlord allowed me to sub-let the two spare rooms. One of my sharers (23 year old female) has become a close friend. I found her by advertising for a person who loves animals. She would like to share with me - probably until late autumn.

I am a young 61 year old female. I love my two cats, but would love to live with lots of animals.

The normal way would be to just go to agencies and find a suitable property through them, but it would be great to connect with like minded people, possibly to share accommodation together, or find an animal loving person who has space to let.

I have recently taken redundancy from a City law firm, where I worked as a secretary. Suddenly my old life has fallen apart, but this is presenting an opportunity to make new connections.

I am looking for a new purpose in my life, I would be happy to help out with maybe an elderly or disabled person - and of course with care for animals.

Maybe there is someone out there who can - or knows someone who can - help with my situation? I would love to stay in the Tonbridge area, but would consider anything. Many thanks.
