CloseExperience:

My name is Antonella Ercolani. I have studied alternative health since 2003, studying Reiki, Psych-k, and EFT, among a lot of therapies.

In 2007 I found BodyTalk, and I didn't find just a therapy, but an entire integrative healthcare system that addresses the whole person on every level, and I plunged into intense study, and certified as a BodyTalk Practitioner

Everyone has their paths and their preferences in healing as in anything else, but I truly feel that BodyTalk is the most advanced healing modalities available on the planet today

I have also been involved in Tarot readings since when my mother gave me my first deck when I was 10

"I've been feeling sharper mentally, good energy I've been doing the Kousmine method to deal with MS, which has allowed me to avoid taking any drugs for more than 5 years now, with no relapses. Anyway, traveling around to courses and eating strange food hasn't been the best, but I haven't had any drastic consequences yet. One thing I am happy about is that all this traveling and not sleeping and eating junk hasn't made me lose motor control, which is what would have happened a few months ago. Some days I have heavy legs, but they get better with Reciprocals. It's got to be the BT sessions!"

Antonella, thank you so much for your 3 sessions of Bodytalk. Even though you are in Europe and I live in Hawaii, I could feel you tuning in to me for each session. I have a long health history including chronic fatigue and immune imbalance in my 20's for 9 years and more recently depression and brain function issues and chronic thirst. Although its hard to say what specific shift relate to Bodytalk, all the links felt intuitively on target. My chronic thirst has resolved which was my primary concern and reason for contacting you, nothing in the body can work well dehydrated. Prior to your sessions I would drink lots of water and it just went through strait to the bladder and out without quenching my thirst ... very hard to address that without something like bodytalk. I've also noticed that some food sensitivities have resolved (garlic used to make me thirsty, peanut butter meant a trip to the toilet 20 minutes later – both resolved), and respiratory allergies seem less. You did a vivaxis times 3 to a large room – which happens to be the room I live and sleep in which is beautiful....but does feel hard to orient and settle into for some reason, so that link was welcome. And lastly, the link with a definition of sadness to, unburdening, to individuation felt very on target. "Love makes me sad" and teary has been up for me for 2 years – it became a really out of balanced reaction and has been one of the things my homeopath used to select a remedy for me which I was taking regularly. I now feel intuitively that it is no longer needed. Many thanks, I have no doubt these 3 sessions have been deeply healing. Even my interest in spirituality has.
