Come and immerse yourself in a bath of profound vocal and percussion sounds that are healing to your body, mind and soul...

A Sound Bath is a form of healing that you can experience whilst resting in a safe and secure place! It's a session in which the body's nervous system is nourished with deep vocal and percussion sounds that allow the body and mind to find its natural balance.

What happens during a Vibrational Sound Bath Session

Nila will start off with a little commentary just to get you into a relaxed state of mind. She will then play the gong and sing some vocal sounds and incorporate percussion instruments sounds that will enable you to relax further and allow the body to find its natural balance and to have the space for inner insights and reflections....

Most people lie down on a mat and a pillow during a sound bath and they cover themselves with a blanket or something warm. Others may choose to sit on the floor or on a chair with something warm around them. You can cover your eyes with a mask if you wish to but it's not necessary. The room is often darkened or with soft lighting during the sound bath. The session lasts for about 45 minutes to one hour.

Most of the sounds are made from one place, however, it is a very intuitive form of healing in which Nila may be drawn to move around the room with either the vocal or percussion instruments.

A sound bath can be a very special and memorable experience for those who seek relaxation, rejuvenation and acceleration in their inner journey of healing. As our bodies are made of up to about 70% water, sound vibrations in the body can be able to help the body return to a more harmonious state of being. Sometimes, physical toxins may be released, old emotions may be released.

It is advisable not to smoke or drink alcohol before or after a sound bath. It is good to drink plenty of water after the sound bath in order to help eliminate any toxins that may have been released. Please note that the healing may continue over a few days after the session in which the mind and body may continue to be realigned.

This event will only go ahead if there are a minimum of 2 people. The room can accommodate a maximum of about 8 people. To secure your place, please register your name with myself by Facebook
