Donations, no matter how small can make a massive difference!

Human Relief Foundation - who have long worked closely with the Jordanian authorities and partners are distributing emergency aid. We continue to provide thousands of families with winter blankets which help them get through the harsh winters.

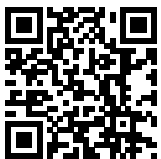

Due to the lack of funding, the Jordanian health services have stopped all medical assistance refugees. Human Relief Foundation has stepped in and is providing medical assistance to those with critical illnesses. Hundreds of refugees have benefited from this project. We have also helped pay for wheelchairs, physio therapy, and operations that people need.

More than half of the refugees who fled Syria are children. Most of them are behind on their education. Most of the families don't have the necessary means to pay for their children's travel requirements and additional items that they need for school including, stationary and school.
