The longest leaf is over 12 inches long. According to one website, "There are over 300 different species of Aloe Vera plants and of these only a handful has medicinal qualities. Aloe Vera Barbadensis Miller, is the only one with skin healing and caring properties as well as the medicinal and nutritional qualities of the other species." Aloe Vera Barbadensis Miller is renowned the world over for its excellent natural healing properties. So, what could be better than fresh cooling, soothing aloe Vera gel for the treatment of burns, cuts, rashes, bruises, sunburn etc. all you do is cut off a piece of a mature leaf and rub the gel on the affected area. Feel free to use the gel as a skin cream whenever you wish. Wrap unused portions in cling film and store in your fridge for future use. I have been growing Aloe Vera Barbadensis Miller for over 10 years now and I can tell you that you should NOT expect it to
