I am offering evening and weekend tuition for children who feel like they are struggling with their Maths. I absolutely love to show them easy ways to remember things, and easier ways to work them out.

I have helped a few of my friends' children, and their parents are amazed at how well they have understood and applied my methods

The most important thing for me is to listen to their problems, understand what the issue is, then work through finding the best way to help them. Each child is different and if they are willing to learn, they can achieve anything that they set their mind to.

I charge £8 per hour, and I can either do the training at your house, or your child can have training in my house.
