CRYOLIPOLYSIS

It is fair to say that we all have those stubborn areas of fat that we just cannot get rid of no matter how hard we try....it just won't go!

Many of us do not have the time to go to the gym regularly and upkeep a healthy lifestyle so the weight just stays.

We have the perfect solution for you, why not try our Cryolipolysis treatment!

What is Cryolipolysis?

The word Cryolipolysis speaks for itself. It stands for 'the freezing of the fat'.

We take any areas of fat that you are struggling to get rid of into a vacuum-like applicator and then we freeze the fat cells to temperature of -7 degrees Celsius. Medical research suggests that fat cells are terminated when exposed to temperatures of below -1 which means that we have a better chance of targeting and destroying multiple fat cells in one session.

Where does the fat go?

Once treated, the fat cells are then naturally and permanently destroyed. The body will then recognise the dead cells and naturally flush them out of the body via the lymphatic system so with no need to the treatment, it is a natural process.

How long does it take?

Unlike surgery, results are discrete and natural, occurring over a period of several (between 6-8 weeks) as the fat cells weaken and die.

How long do these results last?

Once the fat cells are destroyed and passed through the lymphatic system, they are gone from the body permanently. As long as you follow our guidelines of drinking at least 2-3 litres of water per day, these results will last you as long as you maintain your diet and lifestyle.

How much fat will I lose?

On average most people will see around 25-45% reduction of stubborn fat. Results due vary depending on the individual so some people may find that they lose more while others may lose a little less.

What are the side effects?

As cryolipolysis is completely non-invasive, there is no down time. You can experience slight bruising and swelling, however, these are quite temporary side effects and shouldn't last more than a few hours to a few days.

There is a HD thermal aftercare cream available to purchase to reduce the apparent side effects along with enhancing the overall results.
