Hi guys selling my Epiphone Les Paul as I've bought a Gibson Les Paul Standard now and it just doesn't get played.

I'd say this is probably the top of the range epiphone they make and is fitted with Gibson classic 57 pickups which sound great and they coil tap (well says its a parallel/series switch but sounds like a coil split to me). Pretty much mint condition a small amount of buckle rash on the back but only very light scratches to the top of the lacquer. The case has a bit of wear but that's what it's there for!

I've made 2 changes to the original specs, I removed the locking tuners and replaced them with Grover USA non locking tuners. I did this as I could never get on with the locking tuners on there they were awful didn't hold time very well and kept breaking high e strings. With the new tuners I've had no such problems. I've also made a very minor change of changing the volume/tone knobs, completely cosmetic I thought the top hat shaped ones looked better! I do still have the original knobs but I don't have the original tuners.

Guitar also comes with everything it did when new; hard case, strap locks even the epiphone sticker!

I'm looking for £350 but happy to entertain sensible
