A door viewer is a new and revolutionary security device that negates the disadvantages of front-door spyholes, while being completely invisible from outside

"I can see clearly through my front door. I stay secure in my home"

In today's world, crime and anti-social behaviour is everywhere and we are forever being approached by cold-callers – sometimes to sell to us, on other occasions for less legitimate purposes. The primary entry point to our home is the front door. It is the most basic security measure. We are constantly advised that we should be careful to whom we open our doors – especially if the caller is unknown.

But how can we identify who is at our door without opening it? There are solutions out there but they can be expensive and difficult to install, such as CCTV systems. The optical spyhole in the front door is a good option, but these have flaws:

- The image quality can be poor, especially in low light, and is subject to 'fish-eye' distortion.

• The spyhole needs to be looked through directly, which darkens the spyhole and can indicate someone is at home.

The innovative and inexpensive new Digital Door Viewer solves these problems.

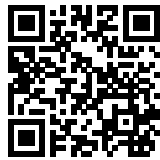

- It is completely invisible from the outside
- It allows all occupants to see who is at the door by displaying a clear image on an LCD screen.
- It has built-in compensation for low light and 'fish-eye' distortion
