Reluctantly selling my much loved golf. Due to a change in circumstances, I'm having to sell this lovely car.

I've had it just over a year and due to being in the forces I'm away a lot and therefore have put very few miles on it since I brought it.

It's a very straight car and in considering it's 10 years old it's in great condition inside and out.

It does have the odd age related mark or two but nothing you could see without looking closely, but I want to be honest.

It has the beautiful monza alloys, however 2/3 of them could do refurbishing, which I've just never got round to doing, but I've been quoted about £30 per wheel, so this might be worth considering for the new owner to finish of the car.

This is a beautiful untouched car, with the only change being the kenwood stereo that the previous owner installed so that you can connect your smartphone.

It has had a full vw service history up until December, when I got a local garage to do it as I couldn't get to a vw garage due to work. It's just had new filters and an oil change which I have all the receipts for.

Cam belt, tensioner and water pump replaced at 46.
